ARTICLE 41 - (1) A student in Ph.D. program writes the outcomes obtained in compatible with the spelling rules approved by the Senate and defends his/her thesis orally in the presence of jury.

(2) Before the defense of the Ph.D. thesis and after completing correction for the thesis given 'needs correction', the student completes the thesis and submits it to his/her supervisor. The supervisor submits the thesis to the institute with his/her opinion that the thesis is defensible. The Institute receives a plagiarism software program report and sends it to the supervisor and jury members. In case a real plagiarism is detected in the data in the report, the thesis is sent to the board of directors of the institute with its justification to make a decision.

(3) In order for the student's thesis to be finalized, at least three thesis monitoring committee reports must be submitted.

(4) The Ph.D. thesis jury is appointed with the recommendation of the supervisor and the head of Institute Department/Art Major and the approval of the board of directors of the institute. The jury consists of five faculty members including the supervisor; three of them are those in the student's thesis monitoring committee and at least two of them are from outside the University. The board of directors decides whether the supervisor has the right to vote. In case the supervisor does not have the right to vote, the jury consists of six faculty members. In addition, the second thesis supervisor may take part in the jury without the right to vote.

(5) The members of the jury will meet in a month at the latest from the date when the thesis is delivered to them and the student will be taken to the thesis defense. The thesis defense exam consists of the presentation of the thesis study and a question and answer section. Thesis defense meetings are open to the participation of instructors, graduate students, and field experts.

(6) After the completion of the thesis exam, the jury decides on acceptance, rejection or correction for the thesis by absolute majority, as closed to the listeners. Students whose theses are accepted will be evaluated as successful. This decision is notified to the related institute within three days following the thesis exam by the head of Institute Department/Art Major. The student whose dissertation is rejected is dismissed from the university. The student who is given a correction for the thesis should make the necessary corrections within six months at the latest and defend his/her thesis in front of the same jury. The student who is unsuccessful in this defense is dismissed from the University. For those who have been admitted to the doctorate program with an undergraduate degree and have not succeeded in the thesis, a master's degree without thesis is given upon request in accordance with Article 34.
